

WESTERLY

Because of the fact that the Westerly Light and Power company buy its coal independently of the Narragansett Light company, of Providence, of which the Westerly company is subsidiary, Westerly will not benefit by the distribution of nearly $40,000 to consumers of the Narragansett company and subsidiaries that get coal through the Narragansett company.

The Narragansett company's plan was presented to the public utilities commission this week and approved by that body to become effective at once, with the 30-day statutory notice. The commission reduction in costs cannot be foreseen as it is contingent upon the amount of current demand.

In 1919 and 1920 the Narragansett company contracted for coal of a certain quality, but failed to get the quality and quantity specified. A claim has been pending against the coal contractor for a year, with litigation under consideration to enforce a settlement. Finally a settlement was reached in which the Narragansett company received $37,577.29. The company then decided that this money did not belong to the company but rather to the customers and plans for refunding it were considered.

Satisfactory progress is being made on the construction of the Post road from Southwick toward Cross Mills. Most of the grading has been done, or it has advanced so far that the men who are doing this part of the work can easily keep ahead of the gang which lays the hot mix. It had not been expected that this work would be done until next spring, but progress has so far advanced that the asphalt machines will be started early next week and the hot mix will be applied immediately. If the month of October remains pleasant and dry much of the job ought to be completed before winter. Labor is plentiful in road construction these days and the men are willing to work as long as to hold their jobs. It may be possible to extend the contract so that the entire distance between Westerly and Wakefield will be paved by next summer.

Frank F. Tingley, 76, an architect and musician of Providence, but well known in Westerly and in Stonington because of his marriage with Miss Olive N. McCann at that town in 1917, died suddenly at his home, 9 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, Wednesday. He was born in Providence, Oct. 7, 1844, son of Henry F. and Lucy Ann Tingley, and attended public schools there. Upon graduating from high school he enlisted in the Tenth Rhode Island Volunteer, and after spending three months in the service was discharged as being under age. Upon his return to Providence he studied to be an architect, and made a specialty of monumental architecture. He designed many monuments in Rhode Island cemeteries. He built the Kent & Stanley building in Providence and the Sayles Bleachery at Phillipsdale, and was director of works for the Deborah Cook Sayles library and the Memorial Hospital in Pawtucket. He was organist in several churches in Providence and Boston from the time he was 14 years old. In 1887 he married Miss McCann of Stonington, Conn., who died in 1915. In 1919 he married Louise Paine of Providence, a practicing physician of Boston and Providence. Mr. Tingley was one of the founders of the Providence Rescue Home and Mission.

Ladies
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Miner of Norwich have been called in Westerly this week. The street lights have been turned off at Westinghouse and Pleasant View.

Mrs. Fred H. Kenyon and daughter, Marjorie Andrews, of White Rock, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Kenyon's mother, Mrs. S. E. Andrews, of Potter Hill.

The public evening schools open October 4 with sessions Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Pleasant street school, high school and industrial school.

Barnes S. Newberry, a son of Senator Newberry of Watch Hill, was fined $5 in a Providence police court for leaving his car for more than an hour, when parking is allowed for only that time.

After all, it is no more reprehensible for women jurors to be lenient with young men culprits because they are good looking than it is for men jurors to be lenient with pretty women who are on trial.—Detroit Free Press.

ONE-MAN FARMS
To make more effective the $100,000 that is being spent to advertise Montgomery County farm lands to the outside world, should not something like the plan of the El Centro (California) Chamber of Commerce be adopted? That plan, as has been outlined in the press, is simply this. The Chamber of Commerce has obtained pledges from owners of more than 300 acres of land within a radius of a few miles of El Centro to allow their lands subdivided into units of ten to forty acres to be sold to actual settlers on long time. Let us not overlook that while lands are higher in California than in Alabama, and that the value of what they produce per acre is what many believe far beyond what can be done in Alabama. There are lands in this state that can rival any in California in value per acre of production.—Montgomery (Ala.) Journal.

Women to Slay Tammany
In the approaching election women can exert the deciding influence. They know this, so do all the candidates. Where this influence is to be thrown was foreshadowed on Tuesday. In their sleep the bravos of the Wigwam are disturbed by dreams of an unending march of the petticoated, each bearing a ballot and a look that bodes ill to New York's ancient institution of graft. When Tammany finally yields up the ghost, as some day it will, on its tombstone are not unlikely to be graven the words: "Slain by the Whitehouse Amendment."—New York Tribune.
